5

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A light source device of the present invention includes a light source lamp and a reflector that reflects light emitted from the light source lamp. The reflector is formed of a ceramic having a thermal conductivity of at least about 0.005 (cal/cm·sec·deg) at a temperature of 20°C. This arrangement of the light source device effectively lowers the ambient temperature of the light source lamp.